

My Beloved Naomi,

Before us lies the horizon of our future together, a boundless span of time that neither of us can see the limits of.

Our souls fly together in the Light, rejoicing in the freedom of love.

If the Eagle is the symbol of freedom born out of True Love, then I am one wing and you are equally the other.

Our miracle, our magic is in choosing the Eagle's joy...
the flight of souls over the sting of the Scorpion.

Life will challenge us many times in many ways.

But whatever lies ahead, we will face it together, providing loving shelter for each other from the storms of life, always remembering the people and experiences that makes us who we are, and always looking forward towards who we will grow to become.

As you have inspired me to follow my dreams,
so will I strive to help you achieve yours.

I will encourage you in your endeavors and nourish your spirit as we travel through this life together.

I will allow you to simply be you.

I will remember that it is easiest to hurt those we most love, and so I will think first about the consequences of my words and actions.

When there are misunderstandings, I will respond with patience and gentleness.

When you are scared, I will comfort your fears.

When you are confused, I will help you cope.

When you are sad, I will dry your tears.

When you are worried, I will give you hope.

Most of all, I will love you unconditionally, with all of my being.

By the life that courses within my blood and the love that resides within my heart, I take thee Naomi to my hand, my heart, and my spirit, to be my chosen one. To desire thee and be desired by thee, to possess thee, and be possessed by thee. I promise to love thee wholly and completely without restraint. In sickness and in health, in plenty and in poverty, in life and beyond, where we shall meet, remember, and love again.
